Safety Tips

Children and dogs in the park must be supervised at all times

- The dog park is for dog play.
- Children should not run in the dog park.
- Children should not be in the park unattended.

When dogs are running and playful with other dogs, they often jump up on each other, playfully nip and have a great time. When children run around, often yelling, the dogs forget the children are not canines, and will play with them like other dogs, jumping up on them, knocking them down, nipping at them and having a great time (for the dog – not so great for the child). Running children are naturally targets for the dogs to run after; it is part of the dogs' natural behavior. It has nothing to do with aggression. Your family time at the park should be pleasant and happy, and the rules about not running around are to protect your family (both canines and your child).

Please do not bring dog or human food into the park

When food is brought into the park, dogs begin to guard or fight over this highly valued resource. Normally pleasant dogs can become aggressive over the potential of food. It is easier to just avoid this issue and not bring any food into the park. We want the time you spend at the park to be pleasant and this is a huge issue to control.

Paw Toughening

Sometimes dog paws need to be toughened up to play rough on non-grassy areas. There are several dog balms and ointments available. They can be found online and we are talking with our local pet supply stores to perhaps carry them locally.
